Person-Centered Care in Practice

Tools for Transformation

Meet
Wisconsin's newest authors

Lyn Geboy and Beth Meyer-Arnold

Discover a practical approach to implementing person-centered care, a promising mode for achieving culture change in your long-term care setting. Based on the authors' decade-long partnership of research and real-world experience in an elder and dementia care facility, the book describes their innovative, multidimensional model of change. Get started with the implementation plan, which outlines nine strategies for transforming your setting. Assess your progress with two dozen operational tools. Use the Toolkit to help you navigate the road to culture change in your facility.

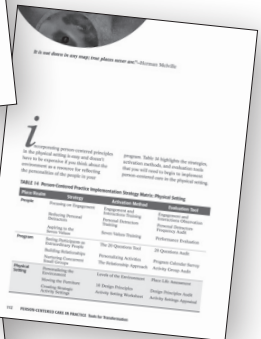

Full-color, covered spiralbound book, 208 pages. Includes CD with printable PDF of book and customizable Word version of the Toolkit. For additional information, email AgingResources@AttainmentCompany.com
